

UHLAN, WORLD-BEATER, IS WITHDRAWN FROM COURSE

"Like Alexander, Uhlán Has No More Worlds to Conquer," Declares C. K. G. Billings.

MAY NEVER KNOW AN EQUAL
Every Trotting Record Is Held by the Black Gelding, Now One of the Attractions at Curl's Neck Farm, on the James River.

New York, July 25.—Uhlán, the racing whirlwind, never again will be seen in a race, and never again will appear on a race track in exhibition miles, according to the recent announcement of C. K. G. Billings, his multimillionaire owner.

"Uhlán, like Alexander, has no more worlds to conquer," declared Billings, "and so I shall put him in retirement. He has done all that ever was asked of him—and has done it well. He has deserved a rest, and he shall get it on my Virginia farm, where he will end his days in ease and comfort."

The passing of Uhlán takes from the turf the greatest race horse that ever was foaled; a horse that never may know an equal.

Uhlán, the perfect horse, to-day holds practically every trotting record. He has won many track records with his wonderful bursts of speed that it would take an adding machine to compute them all. And he rounded out his career on October 9, 1913, at Lexington, Ky., with the most amazing performance of all-trotting a mile with a runner at his heels, in 1:54 1/2, the best mile ever negotiated by either trotter or pacer.

Uhlán holds the record for straight trotting, without the aid of a runner, on a windmill, with a mark of 1:58, made at Lexington, Ky., in 1912. But this mark is regarded as at least three seconds slower generally than the best of the world. Uhlán, as Lou Dillon had the protection of a windmill in stepping to her record mile, trotted in 1:58 1/2.

Uhlán, sired by Bingen, 2:06 1/4, and whose dam was Blondell, with a record of 2:31, could not give easily promise of being a real race horse. As a colt, he looked somewhat scrawny, and his legs seemed unsuited for the "long strain."

But when he grew to be a two-year-old he developed suddenly, but not even then did he give owner Arthur Parker, of Bedford, Mass., believe that he ever would take rank even among the second-rate trotters.

Uhlán, a three-year-old, surprised him, owner, and the sporting world as well, by wizzing along the old Readville, Mass., track, hitched to a wagon, in 2:13.

In 1907 Uhlán's consistently good work on the track attracted the attention of Charles Sanders, a horse owner of Salem, Mass. He watched the black gelding in a number of races, noting his courage and his stamina. Then he went to Parker, and after some dickering, purchased him for $20,000.

Soon after Sanders secured him, Uhlán trotted a mile in 2:07 1/4, making a record for four-year-olds that still stands. Sanders campaigned him in 1908, and the wonderful black horse soon had become thousands of dollars in prize money for his owner.

It was in 1909, when he was a five-year-old, that Uhlán really started the sporting world with his wonderful speed by traveling a mile in 2:02 1/4, and establishing a record for five-year-olds that still stands.

Uhlán had made his 2:02 1/4 mark, Sanders was offered $20,000 for his gelding, but he refused to sell.

"Uhlán will bring to me that much money in prize money in less than one season," declared Sanders. "I'll sell him if I get my price. However, $20,000 is many miles away from it."

But in September of that year (1910) Sanders, who was agent for Billings, the price, $25,000, was about $15,000 less than Sanders would have taken for his horse before he stepped to his 2:02 1/4 mark, but Uhlán's feat in traveling a mile in 2:02 1/4, and his stamina, ending his chances at prize money.

In 1911 Uhlán was withdrawn from further participation in purse races, and was groomed for flights against time by Doc Tanner, the veteran trainer, in that year Uhlán tied the 2:00 wagon record of Lou Dillon, established a new wagon record for geldings, trotted a mile in 2:02 1/4, and in 1912, the fastest time ever made for that distance, and drew a sulky around a mile in 2:02 3/4, another record.

But it was in 1912 that he made his famous record—a mile in 1:58 1/2. It was at Lexington, Ky., on the last day of the meeting, that the famous black horse stepped the first quarter in 20, the second in 25, the third in 30, and the final quarter in 30, setting up the wonderful 1:58 mark.

On October 9, 1913, at Lexington, Uhlán once more startled the world by trotting a mile, with a runner at his heels, in 1:54 1/2.

Nowhere on the trotting horizon to-day is there a horse that has the wonderful courage, the wonderful speed, the willing nature of this great black gelding, and nowhere is there a horseman who believes that during the present generation will there come a horse who can equal the wonderful performance of this amazing trotter.

HACKETT AND ALEXANDER WIN ON LONGWOOD COURT
They Meet Fottrell and Murray, the Californians, in Semifinals, the Morrow—Chicago Results.

Boston, July 25.—A fierce fight in the Eastern doubles between the championship team, H. H. Hackett, F. B. Alexander, W. J. Clothier and J. P. Lardner, Jr., was the feature of the tournament play at Longwood to-day. Hackett and Alexander finally overcame their opponents. The winners will play the Californians, Fottrell and Murray, in the semifinals Monday.

McLaughlin won his match with A. E. Fottrell, San Francisco, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

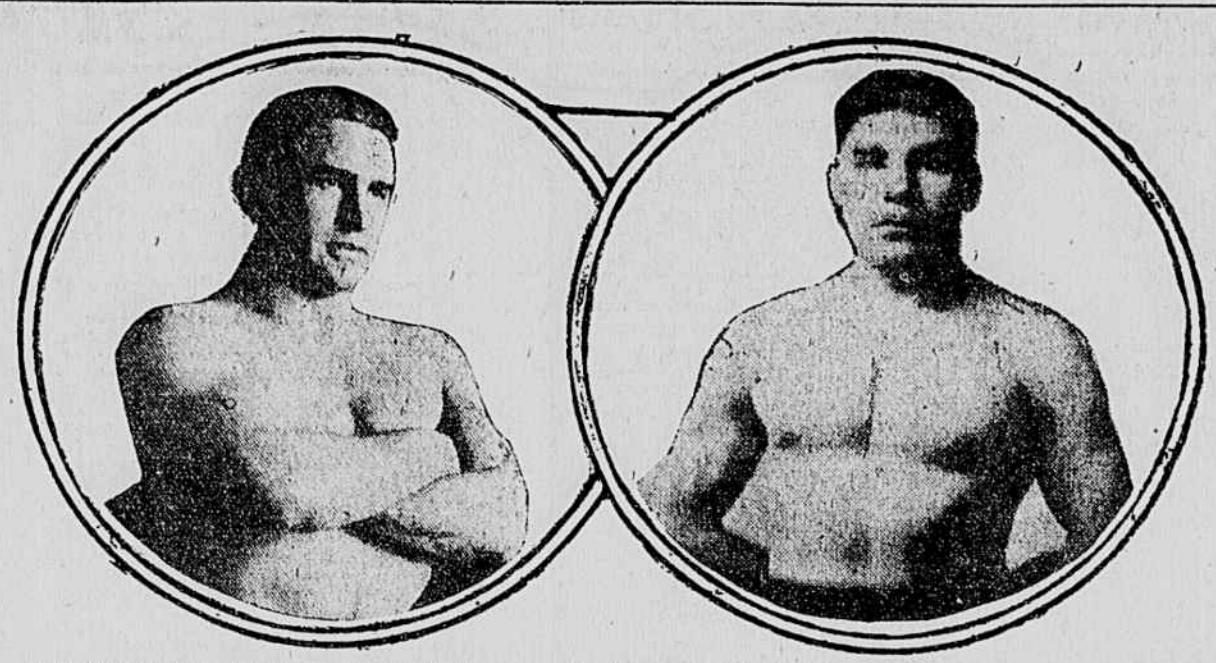

Wallace F. Johnson, Philadelphia, beat G. T. Putnam, Boston, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Eastern doubles championship, fourth round: H. Hackett and F. B. Alexander, beat W. J. Clothier and J. P. Lardner, Jr., 4-6, 8-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

AUSTRALIANS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP AT CHICAGO
Chicago, July 25.—Australia to-day made a clean sweep over Canada in the Davis cup series. In two matches, Norman E. Brookes defeated R. B. Powell, 6-0, 6-1, 6-3, and Anthony Wilding won from L. H. Schwengers, 7-5, 6-3, 6-1.

To-day's events had no effect on the Davis cup series. Schwengers to-day gave a much better account of himself against Wilding than he did against Brookes, and at the start of his match seemed to have a chance to win. The marvelous accuracy of the tall New Zealander, however, triumphed in the court by Wilding, while the latter barely moving, did practically all of his work with his wrist and racket. Powell had no chance against Brookes.

lowed with another, scoring the first man up. A double play prevented further scoring. Walters went out on first, J. Snyder to McCarthy, and the latter caught Clunk at home.

There was no more scoring on either side up to the end of the fourth session, when Juniper Pluvius took a hand in things, and the crowd, umpires and players scattered for shelter. After twenty minutes playing was resumed.

When Richmond came to the bat in the fifth meeting, Gray, first man up, took a ticket of leave to first, and went out on second on W. Snyder's fielder's choice. J. Snyder singled to left field, and Worth followed suit, scoring the first run. Barton heaved a wild one to Matthews, and Snyder No. 2 scored. Worth going to third. Matthews caught him there by relaying the ball through Gondolf to Walters.

Richmond Scores Three.
Newport News in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings was retired, with only one man reaching first. In the seventh, Richmond, however, gathered in three hits, and out of the three sent one home. Berger, first man up, true to the prediction of one of the scorekeepers, sent the ball against the right field fence, and it bounced back into Meixell's hands, so that Berger could get no farther than halfway to the end and beginning of things. Gray followed with a single, scoring Berger, and W. Snyder lined out another into left field. J. Snyder got to first on a fielder's choice when Gray went out on third, Gondolf to Walters, and Worth followed suit, scoring the first run. Barton heaved a wild one to Matthews, and Snyder No. 2 scored. Worth going to third. Matthews caught him there by relaying the ball through Gondolf to Walters.

Pitcher Foxen Released

Jim Foxen, the left-hand twirler who came to the Colts aggregation from the Birmingham team, of the Southern League, was released unconditionally last night by Manager Ray Ryan. Foxen showed remarkable class when in form, but he was so erratic that he lost more games than he won. In the game of Friday afternoon three of the batters to whom he issued free transportation put up run marks on the score-board. Foxen made numerous friends here, who will watch his career with interest.

MANASSAS HORSE SHOW THIS WEEK'S FEATURE

Entries in All Classes Exceed in Number Any Previous Year—German to Close Affair.
Manassas, Va., July 25.—Northern Virginia on Wednesday and Thursday of next week will witness another Manassas horse show, made noteworthy by the presence of foremost exhibitors of this section of the country. Quality and class will be the competitive determining factors in this annual exposition, and exhibits in numerous classes will surely maintain the fame of Virginia for fine horses. The aristocracy of the equine kingdom will reign supreme with pride, elegance and beauty, while tense rivalry among owners and exhibitors will chase interest to the highest point. No previous Manassas show has created more country-wide interest as evidenced by the representative horsemen from the States of Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and the District of Columbia, who have entered their exhibits to compete against animals owned by Virginians.

Among the long list of exhibitors are V. T. Churchman, Charles W. Va.; Mrs. Allen Potts, Gordonsville; Louis Leth and E. L. Redmon, Middleburg; M. C. Hazen, Ross J. Selman, James V. Yates, Miss Florence O'Donnell and J. O. Green, of Washington; E. H. Martell, Palmer Smith, Miss Lucy C. Buckner, Waverly Farm, W. M. Buckley, Gainesville; Charles C. H. W. and W. H. Herring and Mitchell Harrison, Nokesville; L. E. Williams, R. M. Weir, H. D. Hiner, W. N. Lipscomb, Ernest Uterback, Thomas A. Lee, O. C. Fortner, of Manassas; T. Lee

Evans, James K. Maddox and A. H. Pumphrey, Warrenton; O. C. Hutchison, J. W. Dunbar and Joseph P. Smith, Haymarket; Edward B. McLean, Newport; R. J. F. Garber, Harrisonburg; W. J. Maffett, Vienna; R. P. Hutchinson, Sterling; H. Keyser, Thoroughfare; Samuel H. Jones, Leesburg; Glenview Farms; Bowles Brothers, Millwood; A. C. Crouch, Catfaring; George Slater, Upperville; Courtland Smith and Mrs. James E. Birkett, Manassas; Louis C. Ferguson, Aldie; V. M. Washington, Greenfield; E. R. Conner, Manassas; D. M. Pitts, Portner Estate, Manassas; Louis M. Ferguson, Leesburg; Norville Wheeler, Manassas; W. F. Hale, Nokesville, and James R. Dorrell, Manassas.

Although the entry books closed last Saturday, entries came in until yesterday, and in number they eclipse, not last years, but several previous seasons. The entries are each well filled, and especially the four new feature classes added this year to replace the racing stand. These new attractions have caused more interest than was anticipated.

Fatrons of this two-day event will witness a notable presentation in every department, and in its eighteen years of existence the association has never made on the racetrack more careful care than they have for this season. Judges of high recognized ability have been secured, namely: Major Henry T. Allen, of the General Staff, United States Army; W. W. Sanford, Orange, Va.; John D. Cheen, Washington; Frank Bonnell, Baltimore, Md.; and H. M. Luttrell, Delaplane.

Extensive improvements are being made on the spacious grand stand, including a felt roofing. One of the features of this year's show will be the music furnished by the Tanella's Military Band, of Washington. Lendini brilliance and pleasure to the season will be the annual German to Manassas horse show, which will be held on Wednesday evening. The music will be furnished by the Philharmonic Orchestra, of Washington.

PLANK AND MATHEWSON WHITEWASH SPILLERS
Should Christy Mathewson, of the Giants, and Eddie Plank, of the Athletics, face each other in another world series next fall, the fans of New York and Philadelphia being pretty positive that the tribes of McGraw and Mack again are going to win the pennant in their respective organizations. The spectators fortunate enough to witness this encounter would be watching a battle between the greatest whitewash spillers in the National and American Leagues. Mathewson has for several years been the kaiserling king of the senior league, but he will not until May 28 of this year that Plank's friends had a right to announce that the veteran left-hander had to his credit more shut-outs than any other pitcher in the world organization.

When the season started, Ed Walsh, of the White Sox, possessed the honor now owned by Plank, of most frequently keeping his adversaries away from the sporting station. The westerner has used the best fifty-four times, the easterner fifty-five. Jimmy Callahan did not give Walsh a chance to start a game until July 5, and by that time Plank had twirled three shut-outs and once more came through with a "Chicago" victory over the Yankees, but he will have to pitch another brace of shut-outs before he can catch up to the Plank-Pittsburgher's besting of the local team. The important matter of spilling whitewash, Plank has denied his opponents runs in fifty-nine consecutive games.

Walter Johnson, on July 3 of this year, got into the Plank-Walsh class, and by the half-century post in white-washing. At the end of the campaign of 1913, the Chalmers car winner had to his credit forty-five kaiserlingings. By May 29 of this year, Johnson had his opponents on her turf more times, but he had to wait quite a while until he could produce that fiftieth whitewashing, doing so July 3 against Boston.

Walsh and Johnson are not in much danger of having any more associates in their tight little White-wash Society for many years to come. Only three other American League pitchers, Ben Bender, and Joe Wood, of Boston, have succeeded in keeping their opponents away from the plate in twenty-five or more games. Bender has shut out his rivals thirty-three times, Coombs, Chicago, twenty-eight times and Wood twenty-five times.

YOUNG MEN MASTERS OF WORLD-OLD SPORT

Ed. Lewis Has Added Many Tricks to the Game That Was Old Before He Was Born.

HUSSANE A FORMIDABLE MAN

Champion Turk and Young Kentuckian Will Hold Stage at Broad Street Park Thursday Night in Bout for Championship.

Wrestling is a world-old sport. It is the sport mankind turned to first of all, for it is practiced with just nature's equipment. All nations have developed some form of it to greater or less degree, and during all the ages it has been developing. It is doubtful if there is another performer of the same age who has gained so much fame on the mat, as the fast and speedy Kentucky wrestler, Ed (Strangler) Lewis. Lewis is a graduate of the Wisconsin University, where he first won fame as a football player. He has just turned his twenty-third year and weights when entering the ring around 212 pounds. He embodies every requisite known to the sport and has developed the application of these qualities to the highest point ever known. The fact that he has been able to add tricks to an old game that was old before his grandfather's time began, at test that mind, as well as body, has aided him in completing this wonderful human machine.

Lewis astonished the world by the ease with which he disposed of Ivan Minatoff, probably the strongest man in the world to-day, certainly the strongest man in the wrestling game. Lewis was first discovered in the "bushes" by Jack Miller. Then Fred Beell got hold of Lewis and started teaching him the inside game. In 1911 he declared that he would make Lewis a world's champion. Lewis's match first attracted the attention of the general public. From that moment Lewis has steadily increased his knowledge of the game. Since his first victory he has been defeated but twice, then under conditions that did not detract from his reputation as a wrestler. Americus threw him at Chicago through an accident.

Lewis won the first fall and was trying to make a quick whirl when he struck his head against a post in the ring, which rendered him unconscious. Lewis also lost to Zysko, but the fight was forced to go a rapid pace to win. Lewis was declared winner in his bout with Roller, who was forced to give up, after the bout had gone nearly two hours. Roller broke four ribs while battling with Lewis, and the referee gave the decision to Lewis.

As to Yousoff Hussane, his world-wide reputation as one of the fastest and fiercest grapplers the game has ever known, is well known to all who ever knew him. He is a native of Russia and a member of the Russian Empire Wrestling Club in Conner's Hall on Wednesday evening. The music will be furnished by the Philharmonic Orchestra, of Washington.
